Application Guidelines

A limited number of fellowships are available for Jefferson College of Biomedical Sciences (JCBS) students. The Fellowships, funded by the Alumni of JCBS, are used to partially defray the cost of attending a scientific meeting or symposium at which the student is making a presentation and that is related to the student's graduate study or for a career/professional development opportunity, such as a course or workshop not available at Jefferson. Guidelines for submitting applications are as follows:

1. All graduate students matriculated into a degreed program, e.g. Doctor of Philosophy (PhD), combined MD/PhD, or Master of Science (MS), are eligible to apply.
 - PhD and MD/PhD student applicants are eligible to apply beginning in their second year of PhD study, but they must have passed their preliminary exam before the meeting or course takes place.
 - MS student applicants are eligible to apply following approval of their thesis proposal for work directly related to their research project.
2. Fellowships are used to help defray expenses related to the meeting or course's registration, transportation, lodging, and meal costs. A maximum of $1,200 per successful application will be granted. Please note that additional funding from other sources may be necessary to cover the total costs. Students are expected to apply for travel support from the conference or course, if available.
3. The Awards & Fellowships Committee of the JCBS Graduate Council will review all applications and make recommendations to JCBS Graduate Council. The JCBS Graduate Council renders the final decision regarding fellowships.
4. Applications may be submitted at any of three deadlines throughout the year: October 1, February 1, and June 1. Selection of applicants will be made within 30 days of each application deadline. The applicants will be informed of decisions by the first of the month following the application deadline. Applicants must keep these deadlines in mind when submitting applications to allow sufficient time for making arrangements to attend the meeting or course should their application be selected for funding. Fellowships will not be made on a retroactive basis (i.e. for meetings or courses attended prior to the date of fellowship selection).
5. An applicant may submit only one application per cycle. Applications to multiple meetings or courses from one student will not be considered within the same cycle.
6. Past recipients may apply for a second fellowship, but preference will be given to students who have not already received a fellowship. A student may only receive a maximum of $2,400 (typically two fellowships) per degree granting program, during their graduate tenure.
7. Students whose applications were not selected may resubmit new applications in future fellowship cycles.
8. Successful applicants will need to provide documentation that the applicant's abstract has been accepted for presentation or participation.
9. Recognition of receipt of the JCBS Alumni Association Graduate Student Travel Fellowship should be included in acknowledgements of poster or platform presentations.
